Numb. 150.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, DECEMBER 4, to Saturday, DECEMBER 11, 1736.

Petersbourg, Auguſt 21.

THE laſt Courier diſpatch'd by Count Munich reports, among other Things, that he was no more than 20 German Miles from Bender with all the Army; that the Tartars who had obſerved them in their March, durſt not attack them, and that upon Advices that the Grand Vizier advanced with the Ottoman Army, without taking any Reſt, and that the Tartars who were diſpers'd in ſeveral Bodies, had all joined the ſaid Army, a Council of War was aſſembled, in which it had been reſolved to march directly to the Enemy in divers Columns, but always in order of Battle, and to range the 160 Cannon in the two Wings; and when they ſhould have pitch'd their Tents for encamping, they were to ſurround the Camp with the little Iron Spikes, which they call Chevaux de Friſe, and all the Baggage-Carts, of all which the Courier has brought the Plan to Court. They aſſure us, that the Ottoman Army conſiſts chiefly of new-rais'd Forces, ſo that 'tis thought the Grand Vizier will cover himſelf behind the Town of Bender, and the Dnieſter, and not run the riſque of a Battle.

Vienna, Sept. 4. They write from Saxony, that the King of England hath concluded a Treaty with the Swedes, with which France is very much diſſatisfy'd.—— We learn from Tartary, that the Ruſſian Army was come back towards Precop, becauſe of the great Heats, or for ſome other Reaſon.—Some Days ago a Courier diſpatch'd by M. Dalman our Reſident at the Porte, has brought the Confirmation of the Conqueſt of almoſt the entire Crimée, a fertile Country, and otherwiſe enrich'd by Commerce. This News, as was ſaid before, has cauſed a great Conſternation at Conſtantinople, and the Sultan runs the riſque of being dethroned; the Number of his Friends appear to be but few, and he is ſupported but by the Conduct of the Grand Vizier; ſo that a ſmall Turn would determine his Fate. The Grand Vizier's Army conſiſts but of new-rais'd Men, but we cannot penetrate into his Deſign.—The Empreſs of Ruſſia ſtrongly intercedes at this Court, in favour of the Proteſtant Greeks, who are under the Dominion of our Monarch.—It is without Foundation what they write from this Place, that the Elector of Saxony was to furniſh a Body of Troops to be employed againſt the Turks; the Empreſs has no need of them, and the Affairs of Poland are yet upon a Footing not to take any Meaſures for exciting a Jealouſy among other Powers. Our Emperor has Forces enough in Pay, but Money continues wanting; which perhaps is the Reaſon why they have broke the two Regiments of Foot, of Motlake and Mercy Argentau, which were entirely compleat. We flatter'd our ſelves that the Evacuation of the Milaneze would have been made without fail the 21ſt or 22d paſt, but Letters of the 29th from Lombardy obſerve, that the Duke de Montemar makes Difficulties, and employs all his Art to ſtop the Execution of what was concerted between the Imperialiſts and the French; 'tis remark'd, however, that ſince the laſt Courier, which he ſent to the Marſhal de Noailles, he begins to treat of things in cold Blood, which is enough to ſhew that the Duke has changed his Syſtem.—General Baron de Wurgenau has diſpatched his Baggage by

Water

Water to Belgrade, will follow presently by Land with General Doxat.——The Day of the Anniversary of the Birth of the Empress Regent, the Pregnancy of the eldest Archdutchess was not declared.

From Vernon, that on the 10th Instant after they had sprung a Mine to level a Mountain near that Town, several Persons went out of Curiosity to see the Place, when unluckily, a Remainder of the Mine blew up, which did not take Fire before, by which Accident several People were kill'd, and many wounded, among others, the Father-Guardian of the Friars called Picpuces had his Head carry'd away.

LONDON, September 12.

They write from Edinburg, that a Reprieve arriving there on Thursday the 2d, respiting the Execution of Captain Porteous to Wednesday the 20th of this Month, the Populace determined that the said Reprieve should have no Effect; and therefore they rose in great Numbers the Night before the Day first fix'd for his Execution, and gathered into so formidable a Body, that they seiz'd the City Gates, and posted some hundred Men to secure them; they went then to the Guard-House, and disarmed the Soldiers on Duty. Having thus made themselves Masters of the City, they marched to the Prison and demanded the Prisoner (Captain Porteous) to be delivered into their Hands, which the Keeper refusing, they threatned Military Execution, and accordingly began to set Fire to the Gates. The Keeper was thus reduced to surrender; the unfortunate Captain was yielded up to the inraged Multitude, who fix'd a Halter about his Neck, and conducted him to the Grass-Market, the Common Place of Execution, and kept him some Hours there, till they enter'd upon the Morning of the Day on which the Sentence was to be executed, and then they hang'd him, without permitting that Mercy to flow to him, which was designed him, there being some favourable Circumstances in his Case, as he was upon the King's Duty, at the Head of his Guards, when he was attack'd with Stones, and Dirt, &c. and was obliged to act in the manner he did, in his own Defence, and in Defence of the King's Authority. The whole Affair is very singular. About break of Day the Body was taken down and put into a Church hard by, and on Thursday Morning interr'd in the Grey Friars Church-yard. The City was very tranquil all Wednesday, the Rioters returning to their own Homes after their Execution was over; however, 50 of the Welsh Fusiliers, with their proper Officers, reinforced the Garrison of the Castle; two Companies of the City Train'd Bands mounted the Guard in the Borough Room, and Council-House, and there was a Guard at the Netherbow, but there has not been the least Disturbance since. Seventeen Prisoners escaped from the City Jail on this occasion, among whom are the Dragoon who was indicted for the Murder of the Butcher's Wife in Dunse, the two Smugglers brought from Blackness Castle, seven Centinels of the City Guard were in like manner set at Liberty. About 14 Persons were taken up the Morning after the Riot, and committed to Cannongate Prison, but 11 of them have been since discharged, and the other three not giving so good an Account of themselves, remain in Custody. Alexander Maitland, Merchant, is appointed a Captain of the City-Guard, in Captain Porteous's room.

Oct. 2. Next Monday his Excellency Edward Trelawny, Esq; sets out for his Government of Jamaica.

We hear that the Parliament will be appointed to sit for the Dispatch of Business on Tuesday the 11th of January next.
